NEWSLETTER JUNE 2009

Dear Educators and friends,

I hope my newsletter finds you and your family happy and healthy! It's almost unfair how quickly this year has flown!

Market Research Questionnaire

Thank you all for the feedback received. The positive comments are appreciated and I especially value the constructive criticism. We are taking it all into account before going to print this year. We want to ensure an improved product that not only meets your needs but continues to surpass all expectations!

NEW!!!! Amarula DVD

I have downloaded a fascinating 7 minute promotional advertisement showing The Production of "Amarula Cream". I will include free DVDs with next years updated Educator guides to use with your grade 9's Factors of Production activity. (The DVD could also be used to demonstrate inputs and outputs)

Updated Educator guides

To keep the Portfolio workbooks current for 2010 there will be a few alterations due to developments on the economic and political fronts. Remember that the updated Educator guides will be provided free of charge.

Orders for 2010

Please place your order by the 30 June 2009. Do not worry too much about exact learner numbers. The approximate figures will suffice. You may return surplus books. If you would like to chat to me regarding your order for next year I am totally flexible and can make arrangements catered to your specific needs.

Proudly South African

We have proudly secured Proudly South African membership! Due to the fact that we are going to print the workbooks and not photocopy this year, you can now look forward to a product that is consistent in form and function. In order to maintain the competitive edge we have also decided on full colour covers. We truly love our product and thank you for making it your own.

Yours in and out of the classroom,

Yvette

Thank you for your continued support!
