Newsletter May 2012

A warm hello,

Herewith a quick update of our most recent services on offer.

For Personal Development

As part of our Public Private partnership, we have developed a presentation on “Multiple Intelligences” The response we have had at our EMS training has been met with great enthusiasm and we have been invited back to their schools to present it to their whole staff compliment.

After completing a quick, online self-assessment tool, Chantel will show you how you learn best, how the other intelligences learn best and most importantly, how to teach all the intelligences effectively.

When you attend the presentation, you will also receive a certificate for your Professional Development Portfolio.

We would love to come to your school and only need approximately 45 minutes to an hour to allow for delegate participation.

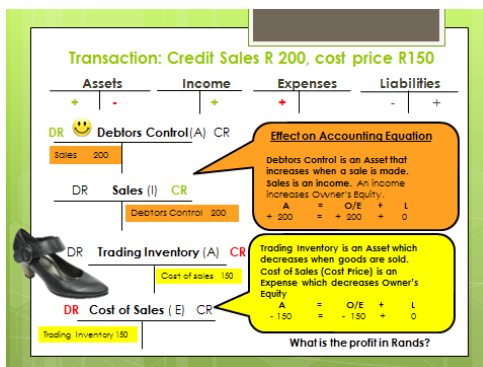

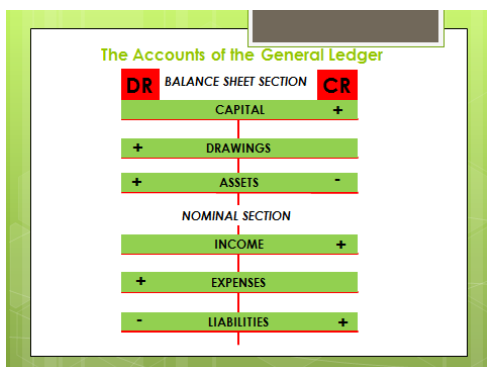

We will also use this opportunity to introduce you and your colleagues to our newest publication “The Skills Standard” – by James Buchanan (If you are not making use of it already)

Of course there will be no charge and Chantel and I will bring a small gift for your staff room. We are open for bookings immediately and need you to confirm a date and time within the next week as Chantel's diary is filling up quickly.

What's NEW?

“The General Ledger” Part Three is now ready for download. I have also updated “The General Ledger” Parts one and part two. For the free Power Point/ slide presentations, please go to our website www.wamark.co.za See our “Support and Freebies” page.

Always there for you,
